OPINIONS OF OTHER EDITORS.

SPEECH BY SENATOR HISECK.

Richmond, Ky.

Senator Hiseck, in 1872 you batted the nomination of Gen. Grant and you joined the Democratic candidate for President. Fifteen years have passed and you are going up and down the State making bitter sectional speeches and declaring: "I can not conceive in the loyal States man going to the polls and voting against the man who bears the name of Grant?" Senator Frank Hiseck, what do you think of your self, anyway?

SENATOR HISECK'S VIEWS.

Boston Globe.

We have it from Hon. Eugene Hale, late of Ellsworth, Me., and more lately from Paris, where he has been enjoying the company of Hon. James G. Blaine, that Mr. Blaine is not, in a strict sense of the word, a candidate for the Republican nomination next year, and that the nomination of 1888 will not be made until he has been unanimously elected to the office of President, and that he will not be re-elected until he has been elected

President, and that he will not be

INSTITUTIONS IN THE WEST AND SOUTH.

creating a rotten and unhealthy financial condition that ought to be checked at once. They offer to pay high interest on deposits in order to secure business, and they speculate wildly in order to meet these interest payments, which are not legitimate or justified. The fidelity people seem to have organized their bank for nothing else than a big speculation. They invite accounts from banks and saving institutions all over the country, and their failure hurt and crippled men and banks all the way from Maine to California. I heard of Pacific Coast banks while I was in San Francisco that were hit from $10,000 to $25,000 each. The story of the fidelity, I am convinced, will never be half told.

THE NEXT LEGISLATURE.

Courier-Journal.

The next session of the Legislature, judging from present appearances, will be unusually brief. The election of a United States Senator is settled in advance, and it will not take an hour to get through the forms and record the will of the people.

The next matter which will engage the attention of that body will be the amendments to the new revenue law.

This law has proven quite effective.

In some minor features it is objectionable, but in a simple amendment will be made. It is comprehensive, and will require some thought and consideration, but as there are no wide divergence of opinion ten days will suffice to accomplish this work.

The next matter to be considered will be the criminal law. In some important particulars these need revision, but the subject has been widely and warmly discussed and the amendments are few and simple, and a few days' discussion will settle all such questions.

Outside of this our school system requires some attention, but there is nothing that seems to require long discussions or any particular excitement. The cost of our legislative session has been over $150,000. The cost is in proportion with length of service.

A short service saves money directly, and indirectly, and the tax-payers of the State will be glad to know that the Legislature is going to the shortest and least costly session in our legislative history.

THE FARMERS.

Philadelphia Record.

A national congress of farmers assembled in Chicago on November

10 to discuss the various matters pertaining to their general interests. The multiplicity of "combi-inations," "trusts," and other speculative conspiracies to put up the prices of goods which the farmers buy and to put down the price of the staples which they sell, has at last aroused them to the necessity of self defense. This assemblage at Chicago is an important body, and its proceedings will be of interest to the people in all parts of the country who live on bread and meat.

NATIONAL DEBT.

Courier-Journal.

The Globe Democrat says that the statement of the debt is reduced to $16,332,695. On the fact, however, the facts

being, as it says, that the interest bearing debt and accrued interests were reduced only $9,000,000, while $11,000,000 was piled up in the Treasury. It is the talk of the Globe Democrat which is "false and misleading," as the Treasury statement expressed the change correctly in the usual form as the reduction in the debt less the interest on the Treasury note,

THE CLIMAX.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 1887.

THE CLIMAX from now until January 1st, 1888, $1.50.

Mr. Buck Watts purchased Dr. Giles Harris' saddle stallion for $250.

Gentry Bros., of Danville, bought last week in this county, 65 aged mules, prices ranging from $65 to $145.

The Transfer Company should have had enterprise enough to meet the special train Sunday morning.

Mr. Sam Bennett, Jr., purchased the James Walker horse, better known as the Wainwright horse, on Saturday last for $5,500.

Messrs. E. Foreman & Son have recently added new machinery to their large flouring mill in consequence of increased trade.

Mr. Wm. McKinnin, traveling agent for the Domestic Sewing Machine Co., was here this week, and arranged with Annet for the sale of the Domestic machine.

On Saturday, Nov. 26th, Mr. Duke Tipton will sell publicly on the premises, East of Lexington, in Madison county, his stock, crop and farming implements.

At Lexington Monday evening, Prof. Cartmell and Kennedy defeated Prof. Irvine and Mr. Eugene Walker in the last two out of three. Score, 9 to 2, 4 to 5 and 5 to 5.

Furness & Wiggins have the contract for furnishing the lumber for the first house now building in Winchester; and Wiggins & Greck furnish it the hardware. That is doing a good deal of business.

On last Friday Walker & Turley shipped 1 car load of cattle to Covington, 2 car loads of hogs to 3 car loads, and on Sunday J. W. Bates shipped to H. Latham, 13 car loads to Jersey City.

When Dr. W. G. White purchased the drug-store from Messrs. Evans & Rogers, six druggists gathered at the value of the stock and drugs and Dr. White came within $100 of guessing the exact valuation.

Mrs. Kate M. Breckinridge, wife of Judge Robert J. Breckinridge, of Danville, died last Wednesday. The funeral occurred in the Lexington cemetery. She had been suffering with paralysis for several years.

A. J. Brooks, of Paris, and J. J. Taylor, of this place, located the beautiful little mine, Helen Brooks, on Saturday last for $1,000. She will utilize the latter part of the week and winter with W. R. Letcher's ranch.

A deep-fell verging into consumption has been cured by Rowland's Compound Honey of Tar. This is a medicine manufactured in Richmond by Mr. E. L. Rowland, and is certainly a fine remedy for colds, hoarseness and kindred ailments.

On Friday, November 25th, R. A. Noel and W. H. Bogie, administrators of the late Adam Barton, will sell publicly on the premises near Salem church on July Ridge, the stock, crop, and farming implements, and household goods of decedent.

The old T. D. Smith property and the adjoining Wherritt house, well-known to old-timers by the above names and now known as the Willis House, have been painted red, which changes and improves that locality very much to appearance.

Mr. Grandison Parrish, who recently died in Montgomery county, was a half brother of the late Milo Baxter of this county and a brother of Mr. "Sam" Parrish, of Fayette county, formerly of this county. Mr. Parrish at his death was probably the oldest Mason in the State.

Change of Trains. The 7:15 p. m. train now stops at Richmond and returns North from here, leaving at 7:25 a. m. The night train to Stanford and the morning train from Stanford have therefore been discontinued.

The Skeleton. Yarn, John Robinson's living skeleton, is at his home out on the Speedwell turnpike for the winter. The virus has gone into winter quarters in Cincinnati. Mr. Yarn was in both the recent weeks of the circus, but escaped unhurt.

Mules. Within the past ten days, Mr. Wm. Arnold has bought eight aged mules at an average price of $100. He is including the season purchased 40 more mules which he thinks as good as any in Kentucky, if not better, at an average cost of $80 per head, or $3,200 for the lot.

Had Been Possessing. Pension examiner Brocke had a train from Owens county before him on Monday for re-examination. The fellow acknowledged that he had been "possessing." The pension will be discontinued. We have no doubt that a large per cent of the pensioners are doing the pension act.

Real Estate Transfer. Dr. M. C. Heath sold his cottage on Main street, next to the Willis House, on Saturday last for $4,500 to Dr. J. P. Hendon. Dr. Hendon sold his stock of drugs to Dr. Heath as part payment and gave possession of the drug-store on Monday. The firm will be for the present, Dr. M. C. Heath.

A Wedding Dress. The Silvery Elm correspondent of the Somerset Republican says: "Mr. Joe Blumshy and Miss Hannah Maria Jinnalton, were married yesterday at the residence of the bride's parents. The bride wore a beautiful lacy blue calico dress trimmed with point lace and satins. No ornaments but natural flowers. The wedding presents were numerous and costly."

Crossings. While crossings are being put down, let double ones be put from Herndon to the corner of the Court-house yard; from Dilligins's corner to the same corner of the Court-house yard; from Ramsey's corner to the corner of the Court-house yard on that side; from the Court-house yard, opposite, and on the other side from Stouffer's to the gate next to him. It would be a relief to have a single crossing from Kelley's corner to the corner of the Court-house yard.

A Compliment. Mr. L. D. Randall, of Smith Grove, Ky., writes the Farmers Home Journal, at the Bowling Green Fair I captured five prairie hares, with four heads. At Owensboro I arrived too late to show in class and sweepstakes rings, and not having a full herd of my own, showed in herd ring in connection with C. W. Burton, and got beat by my friend Col. T. S. Moberley, of Richmond Ky.

From Madison. "Tuck" Agge, who was hanged in Lexington, notice of which was made in last week's CLIMAX, was a native of Madison county. He was related to man Agge who's throat was cut from ear to ear by the then noted Shade Barnes, who was sentenced to be hanged, but committed suicide at the end of a rope in the old jail that stood on the corner of the Court-house yard diagonally opposite the M. E. church.

Flyers for Madison. The following horses were purchased by Madison parties at B. G. Bruce's Commination Sale on last Friday in Lexington: Mr. B. G. Millon bought Mr. Howard, a bay filly, by Charley Howard, full brother of Harry Bassett, her dam by Thelma, running back to Inquisitor and the Skeedaddle family. He also bought Aunna, a beautiful chestnut yearling filly, by Blue Eyes, 1st dam Aunna, running back to Lexington and Eclipse blood. Mr. W. L. Letcher purchased Hibernia, a bay filly by Ten Brock, 1st dam Wild Waver. Mr. J. J. Brooks purchased Willie Carroll by Wauderer, 1st dam Billella. These are a fine lot of yearlings, and as Madison has the fastest three-year-old trotter, she evidently wants to lead the running races as well. The prices ranged from $300 to $1,500 on the whole.

Sunday School Association. The following young ladies are out soliciting baskets for the Sunday-school convention which convenes on Saturday, November 19, in the Baptist church: Misses Minna Phelps, Annie Letcher, Mary Neale, Minna Crutcher, Elise Bennett, Mattie McDowell. The above young ladies are representatives of the several denominations and each member of the different congregations should contribute something. All persons interested in Sunday-school work in Richmond and vicinity, should bring or send a basket. There is no danger of having too much as the ladies will send the unneeded baskets to that which is not consumed to the women's exchange which will be distributed among the poor. As a big crowd is expected and a big dinner will be in keeping, and to be harmonious, so let every one send a wife. The base of the Baptist church will be located comfortably where the dinner will be spread and every Sunday-school in the county is expected to be present.

Booth and Barrett. A number of Richmond people left Friday and Saturday to see the great American tragedians, who are now traveling together, presenting Shakespeare's dramas in great magnificence and affording a treat to the admirers of Shakespeare's works. Saturday night the Merchant of Venice was played in a packed house. At the Saturday matinee Booth played Hamlet, Shakespeare's greatest play, and this celebrated actor's master-piece. On Saturday night Julius Caesar was presented to an enormous audience, and great enthusiasm reigned throughout the play. Booth appeared as Brutus and Barrett as Cassius. Booth with his finished acting, and noble mien won all hearts as Brutus, while Barrett as Cassius won some laurels, but his acting wasn't that easy and graceful which characterized Booth's every movement and expression. The party left Covington after the performance and reached home Sunday morning at 5 o'clock. Those who comprised the party were, Mrs. S. H. Stone, Miss Mary Harris, Mrs. Dr. A. W. Smith, Misses Nettie Stockton, Mary Foreman, Louisa Shackelford, Mary Hume, Nellie Shackelford, Lucia Burnam, Lucile Crooke, Daisy Hart, Nettie Brownson, Bessie McDowell, Mrs. Sallie Miller, Mrs. Ann Elie, Mrs. E. Hume, Mrs. J. C. Lyter, Mrs. Lizzie Shackelford, Dr. R. T. Irvine, J. T. Akers, E. Carleton, O. Kennedy, and Messrs. Wm. Hume, Robt. Adams, Shannon Hume, W. R. McDowell, Terry Hagan, Arch Doty, Eugene Hume, D. Sweet, R. Offutt, M. Ward, totes Shackelford, Lisle Irvine, J. W. Gooden and W. Harding.

Killed. Near 11 o'clock on last Friday night, William Schilling was shot and dangerously wounded by Robert McCree, from which wound Schilling died at 4 o'clock on Sunday afternoon. McCree, who is a son of Congressman McCree, and member of the Senior class of Central University, went into the confectionery of H. Ziemann, on First street, step-father of Schilling, and was accompanied by William Clelland, of Lebanon, formerly a student in the University, now a clerk in the Madison County Drug Store. The young men had a bottle of wine which they had gotten elsewhere, and proposed to drink it at the table with a lunch they meant to order. They did not stop in the front room, but walked back into the dining department, and proceeded to take the cover from the table. In doing so, Clelland turned over the cover. At this Schilling took exception, and told them they could not drink wine in that house. This led to words, upon which Schilling ordered the young men from the house. They went out, but McCree returned in party Schilling. He had returned to Schilling during the first visit that he ought not to pay any attention to Clelland, as no offense was intended. In a moment McCree's came out of the house, followed by Schilling. McCree walked two doors in front of the barber-shop turned as Schilling struck at him, but whether Schilling had a weapon in hand is not known. Schilling struck three or four times, when McCree shot him.

Policemen Messlin and others were near, and the former followed Clelland who was also near to his room and arrested him. McCree walked across to the other side of Main street and waited until Messlin came for him. Schilling returned into the house and sent for a surgeon. It was probably twenty minutes before one was found. Dr. T. J. Taylor arrived and found Schilling sitting up impatiently awaiting the arrival. The wound was examined and found to appear slight, as the bullet entered at the lower edge of the ribs on the left side, four inches to his left of the center, and appeared just under the skin a little back of the elbow. The bullet was soon extracted, and then it was learned that the cavity had been penetrated. McCree and Clelland both gave bond to the sum of $1,000 each, and were allowed to go home. Schilling's condition on Saturday was favorable, but that night grew worse, and on Sunday afternoon he died. He made no dying declaration, although he was conscious to within an hour of death.

The recent Baptist Jubilee at Louisville held to celebrate the gold anniversary of their General Association in Kentucky, brought out some statistics that will prove of interest to all church members. In fifty years Baptists have spent $200,000 in State missions, and added 300,000 members. At the last meeting previous to the Jubilee, the total subscription for work was $25,000 making 20 cents for each white Baptist in Kentucky. Gifts to educational institutions had been in all $700,000 to Georgetown $185,000, to Bethel College $175,000, to Theological School $200,000, to the female colleges $100,000.

DIED. Jephia Newby, aged six years, son of W. B. and Francis Newby, died on Saturday, Nov. 12th, at their home in Madison county, Ky., of typhoid fever. Mrs. Eliza J. Shortridge died at her home on East Main street Thursday morning, Nov. 10, 1887, with cancer, in her forty-ninth year. She was a native of Bourbon county and moved to this place from Danville nine years ago. She was a consistent Christian woman and a member of the Baptist church. During her residence here she has made many friends who mourn her loss. George Rymeld died in Richmond, Ky., on Friday, Nov. 10th, aged 83 years. Deceased was the oldest man in town. He was born in Bourbon county, and never lived elsewhere until he came to Richmond ten or twelve years ago to live with his daughters, Mrs. Hall and Mrs. Shortridge. Mr. Rymeld was 72 years a member of the Methodist church. He never held any office, save that of Captain of Militia. He was a Henry Clay Whig, a Union man, and since was a Democrat. His parents kept the first tavern ever kept in Lexington and his mother was a pupil and present at the school when the teacher had the famous fight with a wild cat one morning in the school-room. The house stood where the clerks office lately stood in the Court-house yard. The tavern stood down on Water street near the trestle.

DRIP ROCK. (ESTABLISHED COUNTY.) Rev. A. B. Williams has been suffering with rheumatism, but is getting better and will soon be on the line of duty again. The farmers are all gathering corn and hauling logs for the market at Frankfort, Ky., and other points on the Kentucky river. James H. Edwards supercedes D. C. Alcorn as clerk in the store of Davidson & Co. Mr. Alcorn has moved West where he expects to make his future home. J. W. Creed, D.D.S., of Waco passed through town today on his way to McKee, where he expects to stay until after Circuit Court, which commences next Monday.

Mr. Isaac Parson was out hunting the other day and killed a large panther with his Winchester rifle that measured seven feet from tip to tip, and has his hide on exhibition here. Mr. P. R. Phillips was in town a few days ago representing the well-known firm of Carter Bros. & Co., dry goods and notions of Louisville. Mr. P. is doing a good business for his firm. Mr. William Anderson, of the Missionary Baptist church, preached to a large congregation last Sunday evening on his way from Calhoun Spring church to his home at McKee. Mrs. Emily and Alice Davidson, together with James Davidson, Jr., of Athens, Ky., are visiting Mr. F. R. and W. H. Davidson and friends, and are much pleased with the mountains here.

EDENTON. Wheat looks bad in this section. George Sewell has a pig that catches rats and lots of them. John M. Burton, while working on his barn struck his knee with a hatchet and painfully hurt it. "Cul" Carrier and David Vinson, while engaged in a game of cards got into a dispute which resulted in Carrier cutting Vinson on the shoulder, inflicting a very ugly wound. Remember, it costs you nothing to try Gault's Chicken Cholera Cure in the event it fails. It is guaranteed to cure in every instance. Sold by Stockton & Willis. 11. Fine Oranges, Bananas and Lemons received daily at Tribble & Blount's. The reason most life insurance companies refuse to accept a woman applicant is because they're afraid she'll die before she's thirty years old of them-her-age-Duluth Paragapher. You will be perfectly satisfied if you deal at White's Drug Store. 10tf Had him there? Magistrate-I'm afraid I will have to commit you as a nuisance. Prisoner-But it is against the law to commit a nuisance-Philadelphia News. A familiar household word-White's Drug Store. 10tf A Virginia cat is reported to be rearing two young foxes along with her litter of kittens. These young reynards were evidently born some good purr puss-Charlestown Enterprise. Every can of goods that you buy from Tribble & Blount is guaranteed to be of standard weight and quality. 10tf "Nature knew what she was about when she made women bearless. She knew not one in a thousand could keep her chin still 'long enough to get shaved-Birmingham Republican. Don't buy cheap light-weight canned goods when you can get standard goods at Tribble & Blount's for the same money. 10tf The Republican party still seems to be in the active vote, but is rapidly drifting into the innocuous mood and past tenses-Exchange. It is said to see family relics sold at auction, but the most painful thing under the hammer is generally your thumb nail-Boston Bulletin.

RELIGIOUS. Elders Reynolds and Elliott exchanged pulpits on Sunday last. Prof. B. C. Hagerman will preach in the Christian church Sunday morning and evening. Rev. Charles A. Berry, of Wolverhampton, England, will probably succeed Mr. Beecher as pastor of Plymouth church. Rev. E. O. Guerrant, pastor of the Presbyterian church, at Troy, and quite well known here, will spend his winter in Florida. J. A. Henderson will commence a protracted meeting at the Providence church on Sunday next at 11 o'clock. Preaching at 7 o'clock. No day service. At Carlisle Christian church, the meeting of two weeks' and two days' duration closed night before last with 53 additions. Elder A. P. Cobb, of Decatur, Ill., doing the preaching. The Mite Society of the Kirkville Presbyterian church will give a concert at the house of their pastor, Rev. W. Crook on Friday, the 18th. Friends cordially invited to attend. The Union Thanksgiving service will be held at the First Presbyterian church of this city, Nov. 24, (Thursday). The sermon will be preached by Dr. Henderson of the Methodist church. Everybody invited to attend. Music by all the singers of the various church choirs. The protracted meeting of two weeks' duration, conducted by Rev. J. A. Henderson, assisted by his son, Rev. Harry Henderson, of Versailles, at the Methodist Episcopal church, closed on last Wednesday night with six additions. Rev. Harry Henderson is a brilliant young man and won golden opinions while here. Miss Rose Elizabeth Cleveland, the President's sister, has just hired a paw in the First Presbyterian church at Eleven's street and Fifth avenue, of which the Rev. Richard D. Harlan, son of the Associate Justice Joseph M. Harlan of the Supreme Court, is pastor. Miss Cleveland contemplates taking a class in the Sunday-school, and will make herself generally useful in the church's affairs.-New York Sun.

Col. John Faulkner and Mr. Sam Bennett, Jr., returned Monday from the deer hunt in Tennessee where they report fine shooting and plenty of game. THIN COLUMN. It's feared that the fellow who was going about town the other day looking for a fire-brick, wanted to fire a brick at somebody. Puck tells of an old colored preacher who was describing heaven to his congregation. Said he, "Why, my dear, dyin' bruders an' sisters, its a reg'lar Kentucky of a place." "And the Anarchists are to be hanged," remarked a man as he seated himself on a box in a store-house, Thursday evening. "Yes, I think they ought to hang 'em!" said a listener. "Yes I guess they'll hang most of them," earnestly responded a third party. The enjoined colloquy needs no diagram. Is this the Sheriff's office, and are you the Sheriff? This is the place, and I'm the man, sir. Well, I want to pay the tax of Mary Prather. You're the very man I'm looking for-where is Mary Prather, any how? I've been looking for her for some time. She's at the poor-house in Garrard county. Poor-house! the mischief! What's a woman doing at the poor-house in Garrard county, when she's got $500 worth of land in Madison? Well, she's there-here, give me a receipt and take the money. Yes, I'd like that, and, by blood, I'll write to Judge Walker, of Garrard, and tell him that Mary Prather's got land in this county, and to turn her out of the poor-house-why, that's the blamest thing I ever heard of. Yes, but maybe you don't know how this thing is. You see, Mary Prather is my wife, and I'm the keeper of the Garrard county poor-house. Oh, I see, well, come go over; I'll set 'em up. Things are bad enough now, but when the women get into office we shall have a good deal more mismanagement-Exchange.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and cannot be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short-weighted adulterated imitations. Hold only in cans. ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO. 100 Wall St. N. Y. June 22-1f
